Signs for back-to-school time

These signs, near the entrance to the A. G. Ross Arena parking lot, are in place all year round, but drivers are requested to pay special attention to crosswalk, 'no parking' and detour signs now that school is back in and traffic to and from Elk Point Elementary School and F. G. Miller High School is increased by the influx of students.

Slow down for students, bus traffic

School is back in, and Elk Point RCMP will be keeping a close eye on the school zones, according to Sgt. Dave Casey, who visited Elk Point Town Council last week. Speed zones on 50 and 51 Streets flank the Elk Point Elementary School and extend to the north and south ends of its playgrounds, and are in effect all year, however the arrival of the school year brings with it considerably more foot traffic as well as school buses before and after school.

In response to recent vandalism incidents, Casey said he had conducted extensive patrols of the entire town over the previous weekend and found it "uneventful." He is "all in favour" of the formation of a Citizens on Patrol Society (COPS) and said Cst. Anthony Unger will be the detachment's liaison when a group is formed, and "We will fully support it."

Mayor Parrish Tung said that "if we find enough people, council will approve a small budget for supplies. We have to have around 12 people so we can send them out in pairs." Each pair would take a weekend in rotation, he said, which would mean patrolling only one weekend in six.

"The big thing is that it's driven by community interest. It's an opportunity to do something about the situation."

"We are the police, but we can't do it all," Sgt. Casey noted. "Elk Point is a busy little detachment."

Tax penalties

Town manager Myron Goyan said that as of last Monday, collection of taxes was "accelerating. The big day will be the last day." (Continued on Page 2)

New partner for Grandparents Day walk

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A popular September event is back on the local calendar, and is welcoming a brand new partner.

Elk Point and surrounding communities will once again take the opportunity to recognize Grandparents' Day, which falls on the second Sunday in September each year. In Elk Point, the event's organizing committee says there is no need to be a grandparent to take part, and that everyone is invited to join in celebrating and honoring the grandparents, who support us, love us unconditionally and are a very important part of keeping our families together.

After a one-year break, the celebration has returned to the Seniors Recreation Centre, and as in previous years, the event will start at that location at 2 p.m. with the Grandparents' Walk.

The Walk has two focuses - to recognize the wisdom and valuable contributions of grandparents, and to raise funds that will be split three ways. This year, one portion will go to the Elk Point Pioneer Circle to assist with the utility bills at the Seniors' Recreation Centre, a venue for many community activities as well as an environment where seniors can enjoy activities. Another portion will go to the Heritage Lodge Auxiliary to help pay the operating costs of the Handi-Van, which provides accessible transportation to seniors and people with mobility issues to get to appointments and community activities. This year, the final portion will support a very special partner, the Camp Whitney Society. Pledge forms are now available, and for the first time ever, have boxes for donors to check where they would like their contribution to go.

Camp Whitney is a long-standing community resource used by summer campers, the Outdoor Education Program at three schools, the St. Paul Abilities Network and by residents of surrounding communities for weddings, retreats, reunions and meetings.

The camp's 60-year-old cabins were badly in need of extensive and expensive repair, and over the past winter, the camp's volunteer board has fundraised to replace the original cabins with two dormitories, each with five "cabins" and attached washroom. The shells will be erected this fall and fundraising is now underway for the second phase of the project: the completion of the interiors and the installation of wheelchair accessible washrooms and ramps. The new facilities will have better ventilation and insulation, as well as two exits per cabin, will be accessible by persons of all ages and mobility, and with the attached washrooms, will diminish the chance of an encounter with wildlife. Those who might use the camp are invited to join the volunteers and directors in the walk to raise funds to complete the project before the spring camping season begins. (Continued on Page 3)

Charges laid in crash

CST. MIKE CORMACK
Elk Point RCMP

At about 3:00 p.m. on August 23, members of the Elk Point RCMP and Elk Point Fire Department responded to a report of a single vehicle collision adjacent to the Elk Point Golf Course on Highway 646. Upon arrival officers found a Ford F150 had departed from the roadway, collided with a fence, and rolled into a field where it came to a rest on its roof. After the collision the two occupants of the vehicle fled the scene on foot.

The female passenger was immediately apprehended and treated for minor injuries. The male driver fled into the area of the Elk Point Golf Course where he evaded police for about an hour. Containment of the area was established and 'K' Division Police Dog Services were contacted to attend the scene. Prior to the arrival of a service dog the male driver was located and arrested by a police officer as he was walking through the golf course. Several members of the public, who were at the golf course at the time of the incident, were instrumental in assisting the Elk Point RCMP to locate and apprehend the male driver.

Dean Bodnar of Waldheim, Saskatchewan has been charged with seven counts including: dangerous operation of a motor vehicle, fail to remain at the scene of an accident, driving while disqualified, assaulting a police officer, resisting arrest, and uttering threats against a person. Bodnar was also charged under the Traffic Safety Act for driving while unauthorized.

Anyone with information about this or any crime is asked to contact the Elk Point RCMP or Crime Stoppers. Crime Stoppers does not subscribe to caller ID or call display. All calls and web tips are anonymous and you can receive a reward. If you have any information about any crime, call 1-800-222-8477(TIPS) or submit your tip safely and securely online through www.crimestoppers.ab.ca

Grandparents

Following the Grandparents' Walk, everyone will return to the Seniors' Recreation Centre for cake, coffee, snacks and the presentation of prizes to Elk Point Elementary School students who take part in the annual Grandparents' Day contest. Everyone is welcome to be part of this event, which has been organized by the Elk Point Grandparents Celebration Committee.

However, because the normal Aug. 31 deadline for payment of property taxes without penalty fell on a Sunday, and September 1 was a holiday, council agreed to extend the deadline to today, Tuesday, Sept. 2. Payment must be made in person before the town office closes, or postmarked today if it is mailed. There is also the option to drop payment cheques through the mail slot at the town office, and if this is done before the office opens on Sept. 3, it will be considered as arriving before the deadline.

Franchise fees

Later in the meeting, council discussed franchise agreements with Alta Gas Utilities and ATCO. They moved to continue with a 16 per cent franchise fee with Alta Gas, which gave the town $100,259.86 in 2013 and is estimated to provide $108,895.73 in 2015.

The ATCO franchise fee has been at 3.6 per cent "for years" and although an increase was discussed at one time, no increase was requested. The matter was tabled to the Sept. 22 council meeting, with town manager Myron Goyan asked to seek out information from other towns on the fee they receive before that date.

Lane closure

Lane Closure bylaw 730/14 passed second reading, and will be sent to Alberta Transportation for approval before it can be given its third and final reading.

NADC

Mayor Tung told council that he plans to join the Northern Alberta Development Council at a dinner meeting and roundtable discussion of strategic priorities from area communities on Sept. 11 in St. Paul.

Transportation

The mayor and councilors attending the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association Convention in Edmonton later this month will meet with representatives of Alberta Transportation.

AAMDC

Council discussed the advantages of the town holding a membership in the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties, and agreed that because the membership is advantageous, they will submit their membership fee.

Wireless microphone

The wireless microphone that is part of the town's portable sound system was damaged by rain, and now "cuts in and out," reported Mayor Tung, who attempted to use it at the Wild Pink Yonder supper. A motion was approved to purchase a replacement microphone.

Coalition planning a new mural project

MONA MCGINNIS

Elk Point and Area Early Childhood Coalition

The Elk Point and Area Early Childhood Coalition has been awarded funds to support early childhood development in the community. The coalition has commissioned local artist, Herman Poulin, to do a mural that will depict local community resources that contribute to early childhood development, i.e. schools, parks, clubs, associations, etc.

The mural will capture the multi-cultural and multi-generational aspects of the community as well as those champions who have contributed to the well-being of the early childhood population. We can all think of that coach or piano teacher or club leader who has made a difference to a child's life. The Coalition refers to such people as a champion for children.

Poulin is offering an opportunity to engage the entire community. The mural will be done on smaller boards that can be taken to school art classes and community clubs and associations for anyone to fill in the "paint-by-number" artwork under his guidance. Upon completion, these smaller boards will be assembled to complete a mural that captures the local flavour of Elk Point and area. Like the existing mural in Mural Park west of the library, it will capture a historical point in time that will serve as an attraction for all to enjoy.

Do you have photos of your children interacting in the five categories of child development? We know you've taken pictures of your kids depicting physical health and well-being (at soccer or the spray park, riding their horses, playing with their toy farm equipment); social competence (participating in the parent/tot playgroup, visiting with grandparents); emotional maturity (play cooperation, participating in dance recitals); language and thinking skills (reading, writing); communication skills (participating in imaginative play).

These photos will provide the content for the mural that Poulin renders. Submit your photos digitally to epchampsfor-kids@gmail.com or hard copies to the Play2Learn Daycare, care of Melanie Poulin-Therault or turn them in at the Coalition's display at the community information night on Sept 9. Photos become the property of the Elk Point and Area Early Childhood Coalition and will not be returned.

Chamber getting back down to business

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Summer break is over for the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, which will get back down to the business of determining the scope of their upcoming projects and events and seeking alternatives for their financial future. Their first meeting is scheduled for noon Wednesday, Sept. 3.

The chamber's Visitor Information Centre was open through the months of July and August, and saw a steady stream of visitors who sought information, directions and suggestions from this year's clerk, Bernice Capjack. Capjack also was instrumental in helping prepare for the Wild Pink Yonder visit.

One item on the Sept. 3 agenda will be the future of the Christmas Extravaganza, and members are urged to attend.

by Your Natural Choice Apple Drugs pharmacist, Seyi Oyebo

- Keeping our salt consumption to a reasonable level is a sensible thing to do. Many people turn to salt substitutes to help make their food more tasty. However these products contain potassium instead of sodium and too much potassium can be a bad thing too. Let your doctor know you are using them so he can watch your potassium as well.
- In 1964, the U.S. Surgeon General published a report describing the health risks Americans were assuming when they smoked. Back then, over 40% of the population smoked (similar to Canadian statistics). Since that time, the number of smokers has dropped to less than 20% but still costs U.S. society about $280 billion per year in healthcare costs and loss of productivity. Sobering thought.
- It was in 1899 that the drug, ASA, (Aspirin®) was used to treat arthritis.
- We are aware of the dangers of drinking and driving. We should also be aware of the dangers of taking some drugs and driving. Drug classes like narcotics, antidepressants, blood pressure medications and some antihistamines, can cause sedation especially if you are just starting on the drug. If you don't feel comfortable driving, get someone to do it for you.
- When we fill your prescription, we will bring to your attention any side effects that might affect your ability to drive and put an extra label on the prescription bottle to remind you. This doesn't mean that you will have that side effect but being aware of its possibility is good to know.

EDITORIAL

School's in!

School's in, and we're all urged to remember that as we drive down local streets, roads and highways. In town, it's not only the possibility of getting a speeding ticket in a school zone that should slow you down - after all, they're also playground zones and in effect all year - but also, the fact that there are more young pedestrians out there, some of them inexperienced with dealing with traffic. On rural roads and highways, remember: If a school bus, coming or going, is stopped, YOU MUST ALSO STOP, for the sake of both safety and your wallet.

So Long, Summer

Combat the end of summer blues

SUBMITTED COPY

Which side of the summer fence did you fall on this year? Did time slip by so fast that the deck never got painted, the garage never got cleaned out, or that camping trip never happened? Or was your summer so full of family BBQs and projects and weekends at a cottage that you hate to see the school supplies appearing in the stores? Either way, the cooler nights and shorter days can leave some of us feeling blue. We may regret the missed opportunities to get things done, or may dread the return to work or school. So how can we beat these blues? How do we gear ourselves up for the next season?

Focus on what you were able to get done and pat yourself on the back

Often times we look at what we haven't accomplished instead of what we did accomplish. If you look back over the summer, you may be surprised by how much you actually did. Perhaps your goals were too ambitious for the amount of time off you had? Maybe you only managed to clean out half the garage, or maybe you made a number of trips to the beach but never made the big camping adventure. These too are wins! Don't dwell on the woulda-shoulda-coulda - congratulate yourself on what you did accomplish, and smile at the memories you made.

Keep that summer feeling going

If you're feeling blue about the carefree summer days coming to an end, try carrying them with you into fall season. Post your summer photos on Facebook as a reminder during the cooler months. Plan an October family picnic, or start dreaming up next summer's adventures.

Add some summery touches to your living space: Feng Shui practitioners believe that changing the artwork and colour scheme of your surroundings during the colder months to images and hues that elicit feelings of warmth can help cheer you up.

Embrace autumn

September is often a time of getting back into the routine of things, and for some that is a welcome time: The kids heading back to school and the return of a predictable day-to-day can make us feel more stable and in control.

Fall can be a great time to explore local activities, classes, and harvest events. The cooler weather can make it more comfortable to get some outside exercise, which might be the boost you need to get your fitness routine on track for the coming year. Farmers markets are overflowing with summer's bounty, ready for canning, preserving and feasting, and the turning leaves and reduction in the hordes of mosquitoes make for a beautiful and pleasant landscape to explore outdoors.

The important thing to remember is that next summer will roll around again before you know it!

Way Back When...

Murphy Oil expansion, FGM commencement, community club celebrates 50 years

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 2 IN...

1984

Murphy Oil Company Ltd. officially opened their newly expanded steam recovery facility 30 km north-east of Elk Point, the expansion including a 50 million BTU per hour steam generator using water hauled from nearby Bluet Lake. Member of Parliament Don Mazankowski shared the federal Progressive Conservative landslide, receiving 32,368 of the total 40,586 votes in the Vegreville constituency.

1989

For the second consecutive year, Elk Point Elementary School would open its doors with the sound of hammers and saws accompanying the sound of the school bell, however this year the south wing was ready to accept students and all school operations would be under one roof. Water was the number one concern of town council, after Alberta Environment evaluated the situation and told the town that bringing water from the North Saskatchewan River would require a lengthy approval process and would not be eligible for a Water Supply Assistance Grant.

A committee stemming from a long-standing hope to see the numerous sites connected with the 1885

North West Rebellion developed as tourism generators was given its formal mandate at a meeting held in the beautiful new Fishing Lake Community Centre. Charlene Baker and her horse, Seeker's Dollar Girl, Shanna Baker and Serene Liberty Lee, and Lana Graham and Rafferty Raffine took home the High Point awards at the Summer Horse Show.

Talent soared at the Forts des Prairies Jamboree, with a number of new performers, including Adele Johnson of St. Lina, the daughter of Allen and Delphine Young of Lindbergh, and her husband Ralph, who teamed up with Harry Hryniw of Two Hills for some memorable music. Marion Ryan, Jamie Schnurer and Jena Hunter rode off with the wins at the Charlene G. Baker Memorial Horse Show.

2004

The accomplishments of F. G. Miller's Class of 2004 were celebrated at Commencement, with John Braga, who had perfect 100 per cent scores on two departmental exams, leaving the stage balancing a stack of 16 awards and scholarships. A spacious new stage, set midway along the curves of a raised area facing a newly landscaped area that would accommodate a sizeable crowd, provided a perfect performance venue for the Forts des Prairies Jamboree.

2009

Heinsburg Community Club marked 50 years of incorporation with a huge celebration, with charter members Alice Gregor, Colleen and 'Babe' Sharkey cutting the anniversary cakes and accepting plaques from County Coun. Glen Ockerman for their ongoing commitment to the club. Close to 40 performers provided almost five hours of entertainment for an excellent crowd at the Forts des Prairies Jamboree.

Summer Reading Program a huge success

KASSANDRA MOORES
Elk Point Municipal Library

Elk Point's Summer Reading Program was a huge success. The children enjoyed using their imagination as they made masks, grass heads, finger paintings, spaceships and many other fun activities in and outside of the library. We also took a bus tour to Fort George and Buckingham House and spent the day learning about local history and all the different animals that live in our region.

Mary Lambert came and paid us a visit to sing us her songs and do some fun activities with the kids. Alicia Fontaine (shown at right) came in with the Beaver River Watershed Alliance to talk about the environment, play games and do a craft with the kids, and to wind up the 2014 Summer Reading Program, we rented a bouncy castle for the day. We all had a blast jumping around and having a water balloon fight as well as going to the spray park on our very last day.

This year, we had 50 kids sign up for the summer program, and on Sept. 25 we are starting our after school reading and craft program, and we are hoping to see just as many smiles there as we did with our summer program. Hope to see everyone back in the fall!

Beloved rodeo clown Ricky Ticky Wanchuk accepted the LRA's Cowboy of the Year award from 2013 recipient Steve Friend.

Wanchuk named Cowboy of the Year

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A very special part of Thursday's opening ceremonies at the LRA Showdown Finals was the presentation of the 2014 Cowboy of the Year award, with 2013 recipient Steve Friend handing over the plaque to surprised and humbled rodeo clown Richard "Ricky Ticky" Wanchuk, who said he has only missed two rodeo finals in the past 30 years.

"It's for the kids, it's for the kids," Wanchuk said of his part in the rodeo. Starting out as a bullfighter in the early years of the LRA, he soon added clowning to his repertoire, bringing in acts such as his hat cleaning skit, his pet skunk and his dummy sidekick, who was originally called Henry the Eighth and has gone through numerous facelifts and name changes over the years. He has also added one or more of his children to the act in recent years.

Wanchuk also accepted a leather-bound Bible from Terry Lock.

LRA Showdown finalist

Spencer Young came into the Lakeland Rodeo Association's Showdown finals placing fifth in the Junior Barrel Racing, and started off the show on a high note on Thursday night with an excellent 13.694-second run to place second for the day.
